

The Baikonur Cosmodrome

Tour for the spaceship launch

Baikonur is the first and largest cosmodrome on Earth. Its area is 3 times larger than Moscow. On this tour, you will see the gigantic engineering structures, discover the history of space exploration, and watch the real scheduled launch. You will feel the ground shake from the thrusters' power and see the launch from close range.

Experiences you'll have

The Baikonur Cosmodrome tour

This journey brings together the entire history of Soviet and Russian cosmonautics. You will visit key points of the huge infrastructure of the cosmodrome. And inexpressible impressions of the real launch will stay with you forever.

Note that those dates are approximate and can be changed. Exact dates will be set a month before the launch.

In 5 days on this tour, you will:

- see launch pads and launch vehicles that participated in world-class space programs
- visit assembly and test buildings where rockets are installed and tested
- learn how preparations for the first human space flight were organized
- observe all stages of preparation for launch: from rocket removal to flight readiness report
- watch the launch of a spacecraft with first-hand experience

We accept bookings for groups of 6 or more

Note: the spaceport is a restricted object. To visit it, you need to submit your documents 45 days before the tour starts. We will take care of the registration of your pass.

Itinerary

The journey starts at Krainiy Airport (Kazakhstan).

Note: If you arrive the day before the tour starts, you need to get to the airport on your own on the first day of the program.

Day 1

At dawn, we'll set out into the boundless Great Steppe—an ancient sea of grass stretching from China to Kalmykia. Upon arrival, our team will welcome you, assist with check-in, and provide a full mission briefing, covering all the unique aspects of this extraordinary event.

Day 2

Today after an early rise you will go to the spaceport. At precisely 7:30 the assembly hall doors will part, and the rocket will greet daylight for the first time.

We'll witness its installation into the launch system and discover its engineering secrets. This is the closest we'll ever get to the vehicle – now begins the irreversible countdown. After positioning, we'll visit the crown jewel of the cosmodrome: Launch Site 2.

Day 3

After breakfast, you will go to the cosmodrome. Today you will see the "Gagarin's Start" launch complex and command bunker.

At the Zenit launch complex, you will also be given a tour.

It is possible to send 450-ton rockets into space every 4 hours in automatic mode from here.

In the evening you will return to the town and have dinner (paid extra).

Day 4

After breakfast, exploring the cosmodrome will continue.

You will see the "Proton" Launch complex. Also, you will visit Cryogenic Center - Mission control facility for the "Energia" heavy-lift launch vehicle.

Then you will return to the town, have dinner (paid extra)
