Day 1

After the meeting at the Murmansk airport you will go to the "Traditsii Severa" (Rus. for "Northern Traditions") park. The duration of the trip is 1,5-2 hours, there will be a small snack (lunch-boxes) on the way.

Here you will visit a sled dog kennel that houses more than 90 Siberian huskies. Here also you will see and feed reindeer. Then you will visit the reconstructed Saami settlement, where you will learn a lot about the traditions of the Northern peoples. Further dog sledding tour across a snow-covered pine forest is waiting for you (the route is 5 km, 30 minutes). Afterwards you will have lunch in a warm and cozy chum (a northern teepee).

After the end of the excursion program, you will go to a base on the shore of the Lovozero, where you get accommodation in chums and vezhas —the traditional dwellings of the Saami. In the evening you will have dinner with the northern cuisine specialties, and go to the tundra in the search of the Northern lights. You will be accompanied by a photographer. He will instruct you on the peculiarities of photographing the Northern lights and organize a small photo session for you.

After breakfast you will take a snowmobile trip to the sacred lake of the Saami — Seidozero (the distance of the route is 80 km by snowmobile). The snowmobile program lasts the whole day. Upon reaching the lake, you will have a small picnic and take a walk around the area. According to one of the theories, the ancient Hyperborean civilization dwelled here. During the excursion your guide will tell you why Seidozero has a sacral meaning for the Saami.

You will have lunch upon your return to the base. You will taste a Saami venison soup, baked whitefish with rice, vatrushki (Russian cottage cheese cakes) with cloudberry, cowberries, and blueberries. The departure from Lovozero to Murmansk takes place at 6.30 pm (2,5 hours, a small snack with hot tea is planned along the way).

Upon arrival to the city you will check in to the hotel and have dinner at the restaurant (extra charge). In the evening you will ride off-road cars or vans to chase the northern lights in the suburbs of Murmansk. The duration of the trip will depend on weather conditions and forecasts (5-100 km).

Day 3

Today you will have an early breakfast and ride off-road vehicles or microbuses to Teriberka, a village on the shore of the Arctic Ocean. This ancient pomor village became especially popular after the movie "Leviathan" was shot there.

The road from Murmansk to Teriberka turns into a real ice tunnel with giant snow walls up to 3 meters high in the winter. You can admire picturesque landscapes of endless tundra, snow-covered mountains and the coast of the Barents Sea on the way. When you arrive to Teriberka, you will go on a snowmobile trip around the area (tourists board a passenger sled behind the snowmobile). You will see the so called "graveyard of ships" — half-destroyed remains of old ships left on the shore. You will also see a frozen waterfall, walk along the picturesque "Dragon's eggs shore" — a beach called by the locals for being studded with huge oval boulders.

Afterwards you will have lunch in the "Cedar Grass" or the "Teribersky Bereg" restaurant with the panoramic view of the Barents sea (it is not included into the price of the tour). Then you will go on a walking tour or try snowshoeing along the coast from Teriberka beach to the Orlovka and Zavalishina bays (the route will be chosen depending on the weather conditions and the tour participants' preferences).

After this walk you will return to Murmansk. You will arrive in the city around 6 pm and have dinner at a restaurant before being taken to the airport for your flight.

A snowshoe walk along the coast may not take place in case of bad weather on that day, in which case you will return to Murmansk right after lunch and go on a city tour. You will visit the monument to the Defenders of the Soviet Polar Region, better known as "the monument to Alesha". See the legendary icebreaker "Lenin" — the world's first nuclear-powered icebreaker. After a walk around the city you will have dinner in a restaurant before being taken to the airport.
